I declare to have read and approved the Romagna Bike Trail Regulations.

Art. 1 – Registration

This adventure is open to everyone of any nationality who has reached the age of 18 at the time of registration, who has an aptitudinal medical certificate for cycling and who has a minimum of experience riding an MTB.

Art. 2 – Membership

Every participant in the Romagna Bike Trail must be registered with the Association “Guarda dove ti ho portato”. The club is based in via Del Paradello, 148 Casalboretto (RA) email info@romagnabiketrail.it.

Whoever is not a member of the above association will become so at the time of registration. Registration takes place on emission of the membership card, following payment of the fee of €40.00 and is valid until 31/12/2019.

Art. 3 – Route

The route will start from Darsena di Ravenna and it will end in Porto Corsini.

In the 2019 edition, Romagna Bike Trail will have two routes to allow people to plan at best their trail accordingly their time and physical condition.

The first route will be about 6480 km. long with a difference in altitude of about 10.000 D+.

The second route will be about 350 km. long with a difference in altitude of about 6.500 D+.

Both routes will unfold over mountain paths, dirt roads, cycle lanes, forest paths and tarmac.

About a month before the starting date, a gpx route which could be subject to variations, will be sent out by email.

The participant will have to upload the supplied route onto a GPS device and follow it from the start to the finish line.

Art. 4 – Start

Starting date: 8 June 2019

ROMAGNA BIKE TRAIL

Art. 5 – Characteristics of the event – warning

The Romagna Bike Trail is an ADVENTURE on tarmacked roads, cycle lanes, forest paths, dirt roads and paths; the entire route will always be open to traffic and it is therefore OBLIGATORY for all participants to respect the Highway Code.

It is also obligatory to carry a repair kit for repairing breaks and punctures .

Participants should have a good physical preparation, resistance to prolonged effort and, above all, the ability to adapt to any situation

There is no maximum time limit.

Any type of external support (except in an emergency) is forbidden, as is the use of motorized vehicles and modification of the route.

Participants should have a good knowledge of the use of GPS and of orientation skills.

Any person who does not adhere to the rules will be disqualified!

The route must be followed in its entirety and without short cuts, a lack of respect for the route results in automatic exclusion from the insurance cover.

If it is necessary to leave the route, the participant must return to the place where they left the route in order to take up the route again.

The participants acknowledge that the route is not signposted, that they travel at their own risk and danger and that they are considered to be on a personal trip without any further rights than the other users of the paths and roads.

The participants are aware that there is no medical or mechanical assistance and no refreshments supplied by the organizers; there is no recovery service for participants who withdraw from the event and there is no obligation on the part of the organizers to search for participants along the route.

Participants undertake to communicate their own withdrawal from the event to the organizer, by calling the telephone number provided.

Participants are aware that the Association “Guarda dove ti ho portato” is not a professional organizing body, instead it acts only for recreational and not patrimonial purposes (1174 Cod. civ.); and, therefore, participation in the cycling trip Romagna Bike Trail is always entered into by free choice and for recreational and not patrimonial purposes. For the same reasons, participants renounce undertaking any legal action for any reason against the above-mentioned association.

It follows, therefore, that the above-mentioned organizing association is devoid of, and in any case relieved of any responsibility connected with the Romagna Bike Trail cycling trip. It is also relieved of any responsibility concerning any eventualities that might happen to the cyclists, for example: accidents, getting lost along the route, physical problems, thefts etc.

It follows, therefore, that the Romagna Bike Trail cycling trip is to be considered a mere meeting with spontaneous and independent participation of cycling tourists and cycling enthusiasts on a personal and free trip.

ROMAGNA BIKE TRAIL

Participants undertake to respect and maintain cleanliness of the places they pass through: fields, woods, paths and agricultural properties, they undertake not to discard their rubbish along the route, but to throw it away in specific rubbish collecting containers.

Art. 6 – Checks

There may be checkpoints present to verify that participants have not used short-cuts. Every participant, on finishing the Romagna Bike Trail, must send the GPS tracking of the route followed, by email to: info@romagnabiketrial.it

Art. 7 – Obligatory kit

For their own personal safety, in case of an emergency or of getting lost along the route, each participant is obliged to have on their person for the whole duration of the adventure, the following minimum safety equipment:

- A high-visibility reflective jacket for night cycling
- A whistle
- A mobile phone
- A homologated helmet
- Front and back lights
- GPS navigator

The organizers would advise participants to use a fully functioning Mountain Bike.

Participants are also advised to take with them all the material necessary for routine maintenance and eventual emergency repairs.

Art. 8 – Final rule

On applying to participate in the Romagna Bike Trail, all participants:

- Declare that they have read and approved the present rules and accept every part of them;
- Declare that they have acknowledged that the event is a non-competitive challenge of resistance and remarkable physical and psycho-physical commitment and is without ranking;
- Declare that they know that, as parts of the course are off-road, some stretches may be arduous and rugged and require a good riding technique, without which the rider will, according to their own judgement, get through the difficult stretch by getting off the bike and pushing it on foot;
- Declare that they will face the demanding stretches of the course, like stairs, paths, steep slopes, exposed paths and fords with the utmost care without causing danger or damage to themselves or to other cyclists, choosing, on their own initiative, alternatives to the route that they consider to be most suitable for their own safety;
- Declare that they have experience in GPS navigation on off-road routes and/or routes that are not tracked;
